Many insects live in or near _______, where food is plentiful and there are many places to hide from enemies. Here, a large diving beetle is plunging deep into the water to look for _______. It carries a bubble of ____ under its wing cases so it can breathe.

A large ______ beetle can measure up to 4 centimetres long.

The beetle's hairy back legs are shaped like ______. The beetle uses them to swim through the water.

A flattened body helps the beetle ______ quickly.

A pond ______ makes a tasty snake for the diving beetle.

Hooks at the end of the ______ are useful for clinging to slippery underwater plants.